

Waste Management

This is what we stand for:

SSI SCHAEFER has taken a leading part in the development of new types of waste management systems; by means of innovation and the high quality of our products and manufacturing processes we have set new standards in waste management.

Our strengths:

For our customers we develop comprehensive solutions with systems that meet their needs, as well as modular concepts that can be incorporated into existing structures. Worldwide operation and decades of experience make us a leading supplier. To that end, we develop and produce containers for all requirements and in all sizes. The entire range is produced in-house at our company, and is fully tested and certified at frequent intervals.

The benefit to you:

Our complete offering and our experience assures our customers of efficient, long-term solutions to problems. As a family company, we also stand for long-term project reliability and for partnership-based, service-oriented collaboration.
